GUIDELINES FOR HOLDING CULTURAL EVENTS AT PROTECTED MONUMENTS

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Protected Monuments and Sites under care and maintenance of the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) are valuable cultural assets of the nation. They represent the collective memory of Indian civilization and embody its artistic, architectural, and historical legacy. While these monuments attract large numbers of visitors every year, they also serve as important spaces for cultural expression and heritage promotion. From time to time, requests are made to host cultural events within monument precincts. Such requests may be considered, but always with the fundamental understanding that the monument is the primary concern and its aesthetic, sanctity, security, andauthenticity shall not be compromised.

1.2 The organization of events at monuments, therefore, is not a matter of routine but of exception. Permissions may only be granted when the proposed event is in harmony with the monument's nature and character and contributes to public awareness of heritage. At no stage should the activity overshadow, endanger, or commercialize the monument itself.

2. OBJECTIVES

2.1 Promote awareness and appreciation of India's cultural and built heritage through carefully selected events.

The organization of cultural events at protected monuments and sites shall be aimed at enhancing public understanding, appreciation, and respect for India's tangible and intangible cultural heritage. Only such events shall be permitted that are culturally appropriate, heritage-sensitive, and aligned with the historical nature, character, significance, tradition, and values of the monument.

Events may include classical and traditional performing arts, heritage walks, curated exhibitions, lectures, storytelling, and other interpretive or educational activities that contribute to heritage sensitization, education and visitor engagement, without causing physical, visual, or contextual disturbance to the monument and flow of the visitors therein.

2.2 Provide a transparent framework for permissions, user charges, and responsibilities.

The framework shall specify:

i. Application process and timelines
ii. Required documents, and event plans
iii. Mandatory clearances and No Objection Certificates (NOCs)
iv. User charges, fees, and applicable deposits
v. Conditions for cancellation, modification, or termination

The applicant/entity shall be clearly responsible for:

i. Compliance with all statutory provisions

ii. Safety, security, and crowd management

iii. Protection of the monument and its surroundings

iv. Restoration of the site to its original condition after the event

2.3 Safeguard the sanctity of the monument while allowing limited cultural use.

All cultural use of ASI-protected monuments shall be secondary to preservation, maintenance, and conservation, and shall not compromise the monument's sanctity, dignity, and its historical, artistic, archaeological, and architectural authenticity.

Safeguards shall include:

i. Restriction on the number, frequency, and duration of events
ii. Prior assessment of structural sensitivity and carrying capacity iii. Mandatory supervision by ASI officials prior, during and after the events
iv. Prohibition of branding, signage, or installations affecting visual integrity
v. Use of temporary, reversible, and non-intrusive installations only

Events shall be permitted only in designated areas identified by ASI, ensuring that the structure and core archaeological fabric/zone remains untouched and impeccable. Any activity found to adversely impact the monument—physically or contextually—shall be immediately discontinued.

ASI shall retain full authority to revise, suspend, or withdraw permissions in the interest of heritage protection, even after approvals have been granted.

3. APPLICABILITY

3.1 These guidelines are applicable across all Protected Monuments and Sites under the Archaeological Survey of India.

No overnight structures or camping facilities shall be erected within the complex. Rehearsals, if permitted, must follow the same time and access restrictions as the main programme.

8. USER CHARGES AND DEPOSITS

Any damage to the monument or its precincts, whether accidental or deliberate, will be treated as a violation of the AMASR Act, 1958, and the organizers will be held liable both financially and legally.

10.4 ASI reserves the right to interdict the applicant, impose penalties, suspend permissions, or terminate approvals in case of non-compliance.

12. SUGGESTION

12.1 The organization of cultural programme at protected monuments and sites is a privilege, not a right. Such events must always remain secondary to the monument itself, whose preservation and sanctity are paramount.
